

Descendants of Rev. Samuel Bottorff and Anna Swartz through the 3rd generation from John and Elizabeth Ohlweiler Swartz

Anna Swartz, the second daughter of John Swartz and Elizabeth Ohlweiler, was born on 21 Sep 1795 in Pennsylvania, died on 10 Mar 1878 in Clark County, Indiana, and was buried in New Chapel Methodist Church Cemetery, Watson, Clark County, Indiana.<sup>1</sup> FSID: L7K3-F86

Anna married Rev. Samuel Bottorff, son of Rev. John Henry Bottorff and Sophia Fricker on 16 Dec 1812 in Clark County, Indiana.<sup>2</sup> Samuel was born 28 Feb 1790 in Pennsylvania, died 16 Jul 1868 in Clark County, Indiana, and was buried in the New Chapel Methodist Cemetery, Watson, Clark County, Indiana.<sup>3</sup> FSID: LWFD-97V

Anna and Samuel raised 8 children. Simon, John S., Elizabeth, Lewis Wesley, George S., Sarah Ann, Sophia, and James Wiley were born between 1814 and 1826.<sup>4</sup> There is a 4 year gap between Elizabeth and Lewis, which may be evidence of an infant who died not survive.

Anna and Samuel married about a year after his service in the Indiana Militia during the War of 1812. It appears from Anna's pension application file that Samuel served for a very brief time which included the Battle of Tippecanoe in 1811. Unfortunately, his service was before war was officially declared and her pension application was rejected.<sup>5</sup>

Samuel's family was well known and well respected in Clark County. In his 1909 history of the county, Lewis Baird says, "It is seldom indeed that a Bottorff is found who is not well-to-do and the name has become synonymous with thrift and industry."<sup>6</sup> Samuel's parents, like John and Elizabeth Swartz, moved to Clark County from Pennsylvania before 1810 and began as millers on Muddy Fork. Samuel briefly took over that mill with his brother Lewis, after their father's death in 1859.<sup>7</sup> The Bottorff children were numerous, and they intermarried with the same families as the Swartz children creating a complex interrelated network of kin across Clark and Floyd Counties.

When they married Samuel owned no land. In 1818 Samuel bought 114 acres of survey 91 of the Illinois Grant, near the town of Sellersburg and they seem to have settled into farming.<sup>8</sup> Samuel bought and sold land frequently throughout their married life, starting in the mid-1820s. He was, probably preparing support for his sons as they came of age. He purchased several lots in Jeffersonville, which would eventually be sold to sons Simon and John S. who were merchants and town dwellers.<sup>9</sup> His farmland purchases would be sold to George, James, and Lewis as they came of age.<sup>10</sup> He also sold land to oldest daughter Elizabeth shortly after she was widowed.<sup>11</sup> Samuel was so active in his land trading that, it seems likely, he was speculating in addition to creating future farms for his sons.<sup>12</sup>

In 1824 Samuel served as one of the bondsmen for the administrators of the estate of John Swartz<sup>13</sup>. And in 1826 he was a witness to the recording of the division of his father in law, John Swartz's real estate, which included an apportionment to Samuel and Anna of roughly 18 acres.<sup>14</sup> Shortly afterwards he and Anna sold their portion of John Swartz's estate to Jacob Swartz.<sup>15</sup>

From 1820 to 1840 Samuel and Anna appear on the census in Charlestown, Clark County.<sup>16</sup> By 1850 they have moved into Jeffersonville and are no longer actively farming.<sup>17</sup> In 1860, Anna and Samuel sold a lot in Jeffersonville to son James W. Bottorff, and he at once sold back to Anna a life estate in a strip of that lot 66 feet wide. After her death, the strip of land would become the common property of his siblings, named in the deed, as George S. Bottorff, Lewis W. Bottorff, Elizabeth Ruddell widow of James Ruddle, and Sarah Ann Thompson, wife of Greenberry Thompson. Two children were not included. Simon was deceased, and John S. had moved out of the state, perhaps he had made separate arrangements with James. That the deed is with Anna alone, even though Samuel was alive, is unusual and probably indicates that she and James were setting this up to provide for her after Samuel's death. The lot faced Chestnut Street near where Anna's younger brother Jacob had recently built a substantial residence.<sup>18</sup>

While Samuel and Anna may have not been living on a farm between 1850 and his death in 1868, they were still clearly involved with the family's farming activities. In 1864 and 1865, Samuel paid Internal Revenue taxes on slaughtered hogs and other farm produce.<sup>19</sup>

Samuel and Anna were active in the Methodist Church, probably all their lives.<sup>20</sup> Samuel was regularly referred to as Reverend Bottorff although there is no evidence that he had received a formal education or ordination for the ministry. It seems more likely that like others on the frontier at this time, he was licensed to preach by the Methodist Church and the title was a courtesy.<sup>21</sup> Three of Anna's brothers were licensed to preach in this way and all of them were commonly addressed as Reverend by their communities. When Samuel and Anna died, they were laid to rest in the cemetery of the New Chapel Methodist Church<sup>22</sup> where they had worshiped for years and where many members of both families were buried. They were the second generation of both their families to lie in the New Chapel Cemetery. They would not be the last.

Anna outlived Samuel by ten years. Her obituary, published 11 May 1878 in The Evening News in Jeffersonville, referred to her 68 years of membership in the Methodist Church, her numerous family connections in Clark County, and gave her place of death as the residence of Merritt Hall, Jeffersonville, which was the home of her daughter Elizabeth Ruddell and her granddaughter Sarah N. Hall.<sup>23</sup>

Neither Samuel or Anna left a will and there is no identifiable record of probate for either of them, which is unusual given that at the time of Samuel's death they owned property.<sup>24</sup>

28 Mary's parentage has been difficult to determine. On FamilySearch, she is supposed to be the daughter of a Peter Colden, but there is no Peter Colden in any county nearby in either 1830 or 1840. There are no Colden/Coalden/Colten households in Clark County, Indiana or Jefferson County, Kentucky in either 1830 or 1840. There are a Gideon Colten and a Charles Colten in Washington County, Indiana in 1830 but not in 1840 and there is nothing to connect Mary with either of these men.

If they had inherited the Jeffersonville lots, it seems reasonable there would be a sale. The family has no listed Real Estate in 1860 or 1870 although the two daughters each have a Personal Estate valued at $7,000 which might indicate an estate distribution or a recent real estate sale. However, there is no evidence to back up this speculation.*

John married next Ellen W. Gilder, daughter of John Gilder and Sarah Leonard, on 11 Oct 1854 in Clark County, Indiana.<sup>45</sup> Ellen was born on 21 Jun 1818 in New York City, New York, died on 4 Mar 1896 in Vineland, Cumberland County, New Jersey, and was buried in Mount Moriah Cemetery, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.<sup>46</sup> FSID: L1JZ-4S9

They had one son: Leonard Gilder.<sup>47</sup>

John apparently began adult life as a merchant, working with brother Simon in their dry goods store in Jeffersonville, employing various Swartz cousins and teaching them the trade.<sup>48</sup> John was an active speculator in land, buying and selling Clark County farmland and several lots in Jeffersonville between 1838 and 1872.<sup>49</sup> In 1856 his Jeffersonville home was robbed of silver plate worth $400, a substantial sum for the time<sup>50</sup>. John, Ellen, and their young son Leonard, along with first wife Sarah's younger children Laura, Mary, and John Lawrence, appear in Flushing, New York on the 1860 census where he was listed as superintendent for the New York and Flushing Railroad.<sup>51</sup> John worked for various railroad companies for the rest of his life. By 1864, he, Ellen, and Leonard as well as Laura and Mary had moved to Philadelphia where they joined the Philadelphia Methodist Church<sup>52</sup>. John's older children eventually all married and settled in Indiana and John maintained close ties to family in Clark County as well as visiting several times for funerals and business.<sup>53</sup> As a railroad employee he undoubtedly had easy and inexpensive access. John was an employee of the Chestnut and Walnut Street Railway in Philadelphia from at least 1870 till his death in 1892<sup>54</sup>. He was active in the formation of the Conductors and Car Drivers Mutual Aid Society of the employees of the C&W Railway and was elected vice-president of the Society in 1882.<sup>55</sup> John's death was announced in the Philadelphia papers<sup>56</sup>, but no mention was made in the Jeffersonville papers. There appears to be no probate filed for John in either Pennsylvania or Indiana.<sup>57</sup> Ellen moved to Cumberland County, New Jersey about 9 months before her death in 1896.<sup>58</sup> Her will was submitted for probate in Philadelphia.<sup>59</sup>

3. Elizabeth Bottorff was born on 1 Feb 1816 in Indiana, died on 23 Nov 1882 in Indiana, and was buried in New Chapel Methodist Church Cemetery, Watson, Clark County, Indiana.<sup>60</sup> FSID: KJDV-QNV

Elizabeth married James C. Ruddell, son of Cornelius Ruddell and Margaret Wilson, on 10 Jul 1836 in Clark County, Indiana.<sup>61</sup> James was born on 8 Jan 1816 in Clark County, Indiana, died on 19 Nov 1848 in Clark County, Indiana, and was buried in New Chapel Methodist Church Cemetery, Watson, Clark County, Indiana.<sup>62</sup> FSID: KJ4T-26N

They had two documented children: Sara A., and James Marion. A third child is often given in online trees as William W. Ruddell born and died 1837. There is no gravestone recorded for an infant of this name, he is not mentioned in any of the records of the family, and there were several other Ruddle families having children at this time in Clark County.<sup>63</sup>

In 1842, James filed a petition with the US District Court for Indiana and was declared bankrupt under the 1841 Congressional Act for Establishing a Uniform Bankruptcy.<sup>64</sup> His farmland was sold in April 1843 by the court to settle his debts.<sup>65</sup> Ironically, the Bankruptcy Act was repealed just a few months later. In 1841, James and Elizabeth had sold 2 lots in Utica along with his brother William and wife.<sup>66</sup> Given the sale, the bankruptcy filing, and James' insolvent estate, it seems probable that he was involved in the early Clark County land speculation craze that ended with the Panic of 1837. Just 4 years after the bankruptcy sale James died, leaving Elizabeth with 2 young children and his remaining debts. His brother Wilson Ruddell was appointed administrator of his estate and Elizabeth was made guardian of her children, both of whom were minors. In 1849 the estate was settled with $142.52 going to the Elizabeth as widow and guardian of the children.<sup>67</sup> Elizabeth never remarried.

In 1850 Elizabeth was enumerated as the widowed head of a large household in Jeffersonville, composed of her two children and several single men, primarily laborers.<sup>68</sup> Perhaps she was running a boarding house. She bought part of lot 152, next to her parents, in Jeffersonville on 22 February 1859 from Samuel & James W.

Bottorff.<sup>69</sup> In 1870, son James Ruddle, a single 28 year old as well as daughter Sara and son in law Merritt N. Hall, are enumerated in Elizabeth's household.<sup>70</sup> She resided in the household of Merritt Hall on the 1880, still in Jeffersonville and probably still living in the same house which she had owned since 1859.<sup>71</sup> In 1880, Elizabeth took the train to visit son James in California, where he had resided for about 4 years.<sup>72</sup> Elizabeth signed her will on 8 June 1882, leaving everything to her daughter Sarah A. Hall and appointing Sarah as her executor.<sup>73</sup> Her obituary, giving her cause of death as consumption of over 20 years duration, was published on 23 Nov 1882 in the Daily News of Jeffersonville.<sup>74</sup> Sarah, who lived with Elizabeth her entire life and nursed her mother in her final illness, died of consumption in 1899.<sup>75</sup> Elizabeth's son James never married and died in California in 1895.<sup>76</sup>

The family has not been found on the 1860 census and there is no Flora or Marie on the 1870 she apparently died young. Given the general accuracy of the family information on FamilySearch and elsewhere, I suspect the existence of a family bible.)<sup>80</sup>

Lewis began preparing to migrate out of Clark County even before he married. In 1841 he purchased land in Adams County, Illinois,<sup>81</sup> which was an early migration point for many members of the family, including Uncle and Aunt William and Nancy Spangler and several of his Swartz cousins, the older children of Uncle John Swartz.<sup>82</sup> By 1850 he and Sarah were living in Adams County, while continuing to purchase and sell land in Clark

County.<sup>83</sup> By 1870 most of the family had moved to Jasper County, Illinois and by 1885 they were in Sumner County, Kansas where they would remain for the rest of their lives.<sup>84</sup> The family appears to have thrived in Kansas. Son Charles Newton Bottorff became a well-known local preacher and briefly served as state legislator.<sup>85</sup> Thanks to railroad expansion, Lewis and Sarah were not cut off from their families in Indiana and Illinois. Although older daughter Mary had remained in Illinois after her marriage Lewis and Sarah travelled back to Illinois via train to visit them.<sup>86</sup> Also, local newspapers record visits by Sarah's niece and nephew and visits back to Indiana by sons Charles and James.<sup>87</sup> In 1887 Lewis' birthday celebrations were described in the Riverdale newspaper and his obituary was prominent in the same paper just seven years later.<sup>88</sup> Sarah spent the remainder of her life living with daughter Sarah Miranda and her husband.<sup>89</sup>

They had three known children: Calvin R., Ann E., and John S.<sup>93</sup>

George and Ann Eliza apparently lived quiet uneventful lives. There are few surviving records that mention them and neither appear to have had either an obituary or appeared in the local newspapers. George bought farmland from his parents in 1844 and lived on that land the rest of his life<sup>94</sup>. In 1860, he bought part of lot 155 in Jeffersonville from his younger brother James Wiley, perhaps as speculation or to build a future retirement home.<sup>95</sup> However, in July 1863 when George registered for the draft, he was still a resident of Charlestown.<sup>96</sup> During the Civil War George paid taxes on his farm income, a carriage and a piano, the only one of his family to

Sarah and Greenberry, like younger brother James Wiley and family, were the "perseverers" among Anna and Samuel's children. They appear to have been farmers, ( from the first census of their marriage in 1850 Greenberry is always listed as owning real estate)<sup>105</sup>, raising the 6 of their children to survive infancy in the same community where they had grown-up, emmeshed in a web of relationships stretching across 4 generations, although few of those children would remain within that web.<sup>106</sup> Greenberry was the executor of his father's will 105 Although Greenberry clearly owned land as he is listed as a landowner on every census between 1850 and 1880 and he devises all of his real estate to his wife Sarah in his will, there are no deeds listed with Greenberry as the grantee. It seems likely that Greenberry inherited his land from his father but no evidence for this has been discovered and given the unusual nature of his father's will, the necessary proof would seem to have to be in Clark County Loose probate papers which were heavily damaged and destroyed by floods in the 1920s.
